Early Childhood Parent-to-Parent:

A new initiative this school year for families of Pre-K and Kindergarten students

We know that you might be juggling work, your own schedule, and having your children home more than before. Or, you might have sitters, family members, or older siblings looking after your young children. Join us this school year as we meet online monthly to discuss topics related to at-home learning and "management." We have some topics ready-to-go for you, and we will also take requests for monthly topics.

Details about our 4th Early Childhood Parent-to-Parent online meeting are below. The meeting will be recorded for you to view at any time, but your live presence and active participation will allow you to discuss with others and get feedback on your questions.

Meeting: Thursday, December 10th at noon

Topic: Providing Social Interactions During Covid

During this month's meeting, we will discuss ways you can support the social and emotional development and needs of your young children while still remaining socially distant. We will also discuss how to help children who are experiencing negative emotions due to a lack of social interactions. There will be an opportunity for you to ask questions!
